

Burma Center Prague, o.p.s.

ANNUAL REPORT 2007

including the year of foundation 2006

INTRODUCTION

During the year 2005, two campaigners who were actively volunteering for the Burma issue either on an individual basis or within other NGOs decided to create a platform for coordinated, reliable and independent work in order to facilitate Czech support for Burma, foster international cooperation, and serve as an interface between European and Burmese forces. The Burma issue had to be kept more continuously on the agenda of the general Czech public and Burmese refugees urgently needed assistance.

The intended foundation of a non-governmental and non-profit organization and an outline of the goals were first announced at the “Burma/Myanmar Forum” conference in Brussels in March 2006. The founders decided to register the Burma Center Prague under Czech law with the legal form of a “Public Benefit Corporation” (in Czech Obecne prospesna spolecnost), which required the setting up of an Executive Board and a Supervisory Board with three members each. Members were chosen with respect to their engagement for Burma, preference was given to persons representing the Burmese community in the Czech Republic. The Burmese community also got involved as volunteers.

The organization was founded on June 13, 2006 and registered at the Municipal Court of Prague in September 6, 2006. Since the legal requirements do not allow the organization to offer a regular membership, it founded an informal affiliated group of supporters and volunteers called “Friends of Burma”.

Since its creation, the Burma Center Prague has been a member of the European network of NGOs working on the Burma issue EBN (European Burma Network) and the net-

Mission Statement

The Burma Center Prague is a non-governmental and non-profit organization run by Burmese living in the Czech Republic and by supporters of Burma. The Burma Center Prague is not affiliated with any political party. We act in accordance with the Universal Declaration of Human Rights of the United Nations and the UN Millennium Development Goals.

Our goal is to raise public awareness about Burma in the Czech and Slovak Republics, and to promote events in order to support the people of Burma. We feel the need to emphasize the importance of human rights and the necessity to provide the population with basic tools enabling it to survive and to receive fundamental goods, such as education, health care and legal security.

Our main activities comprise:

- Informing the public about the situation in Burma
- Organizing cultural events and campaigns
- Providing assistance to Burmese refugees in the Czech Republic
- Implementing development projects for the Burmese people work of Burmese dissidents in European exile FBE (Forum of Burmese in Europe). The Center has also kept close contact with other key players like academics and civil society groups working on related issues and representing Burmese ethnic minorities.

The Burma Center Prague offers information about its activities and Burma on its Web site at www.burma-center.org. On these pages, a selection of the most important Czech and English news on Burma can be found together with some general knowledge and analyses of significant topics.

Aid to Refugees

The Burma Center Prague offers translation and interpretation services to Burmese asylum seekers during legal procedures until they are approved, and also provides assistance in dealing with the bureaucracy in the Czech Republic. As one of its core competencies, the organization helped Burmese refugees with administrative issues, with finding a means to support themselves, and becoming integrated into Czech society. In order to increase their prospective for finding a job, the organization helped them obtain a EU driver's licence, become computer literate, and learn the Czech language. Assistance was also provided to Burmese students at Czech universities and individuals doing internships at other Czech NGOs.

Raising Awareness

Since its foundation in 2006 and throughout 2007, the Burma Center Prague has held a variety of cultural activities, designed to raise awareness of the situation in Burma among the local and expatriate population in the Czech and Slovak Republics.

Film Screenings with Discussions

Since one of the Burma Center's main objectives is to inform the Czech and Slovak publics about the situation in Burma, including issues not apparent to tourists and not presented by foreign investors and travel agencies, we screened movies and documentary footage highlighting these issues, followed by discussions with Burmese.

Most of these events were organized in cooperation with local partners, who provided the place and the technical equipment. In Oc-

Highlights

2006

“The Secret of Thain”: The Burma Center Prague put on a show of Thain, the Burmese martial art, featuring Thain master U Htwe Thaung who currently lives in exile in Denmark. The performance took place in the Palac Flora shopping center, in cooperation with the restaurant Orange Moon, and a second time in the DISK Theatre.

2007

In February the Burma Center Prague and Amnesty International held a Music for Human Rights concert in support of Burma. The concert took place in a former nuclear bunker that is now an 'underground' venue for bands. A variety of musicians performed for free, and proceeds from the door were shared between Amnesty International and the Burma Center. The Center's share of the funds was donated to the NGO Free Burma Rangers, who send relief teams from Thailand into Burma to help Internally Displaced Persons.

In November, the Burma Center organized an exhibit of political cartoons from the Burmese artist in exile Harn Lay at the Zahrada Cultural Center in Prague. The vernissage featured speakers including the former Czech ambassador to Burma HE Mr. Jiri Sitler, and caricaturist Stepan Mares. After Prague, the exhibit was presented in the gallery Místo Galerie in Brno, in cooperation with the NGO Nesehnuti. Both opening events included the screening of a documentary film that was assembled by the Burma Center using footage of the 2007 protests from the Burmese TV-station in exile DVB. Visitors also had the opportunity to try Burmese cuisine. The project was supported by the Czech Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

tober 2006, the Burma Center Prague presented a Burmese Evening at the international documentary film festival One World 2006 in Bratislava, Slovakia, in cooperation with the hosting Slovak organization People in Peril. After the screening of the movie Total Denial, a discussion was held with a co-founder of the Forum of Burmese in Europe (FBE) who offered up-to-date information on issues mentioned in the film. Further highlights were a photo exhibition on the visible and invisible sides of Burma (in cooperation with the Austrian Burma Center) and a buffet of original Burmese dishes.

In December followed the seasonal and thought-provoking celebration of “Christmas for Burma”. Two documentary films were shown, one about Internally Displaced persons and the other about forced and child labor in Burma. The event was held in cooperation with DISK Theatre.

In 2007, the Burma Center Prague continued the screening of films, first at the One World Film Festival in cooperation with People in Need and the local gallery Fiducia in Ostrava, presenting the film Burma’s Secret War and including a discussion on the mentioned issues.

Further screenings with discussions were held at the café Rybanaruby and as the Prague Party for Burma at Karavanseraj café. In November, after the conferences of the Burmese dissidents in Prague, the Burma Center organized a screening of Total Denial at the popular arthouse cinema Svetozor in Prague. The event was completely sold out and the screening was followed by a discussion on the current situation in Burma.

The Burma Center also provided expertise at a joint film screening and discussion with the English-Speaking and Tuesday Groups of Amnesty International in Prague.

Petitions, Protests and Vigils

The Burma Center Prague held numerous protests and vigils, and circulated petitions, in 2006 and particularly in 2007 with the advent of the Saffron Revolution.

Traditionally, the Burma Center Prague as part of a global movement commemorates the birthday of the Nobel Peace Prize laureate, Aung San Suu Kyi, who is kept under house arrest in Rangoon. In 2006, the Burma Center encouraged supporters to stay at home for 24 hours to pay tribute to her. Apart from this symbolic act, a meditation session was held with members of the Buddhist Meditation Center Lotus in Prague. Together with the local organization People in Need, the happening "Rose for Aung San Suu Kyi and Burma" was held in Prague.

In 2007, the Burma Center Prague and the Burmese community remembered the birthday of Daw Suu Kyi in a traditional Burmese way – by donating food to the poor. Members of the Burmese community prepared the food and gave it to the homeless people of Prague at the premises of the charity Nadeje. Additionally, the Czech public was invited to sign protest letters and appeals on cases of prisoners of conscience in cooperation with Amnesty International Czech Republic and Burma Campaign UK.

Upon an invitation from the organization People in Need, the Burma Center Prague drafted the "Declaration in Support of the People of Burma" and presented it at the Forum 2000 conference in 2007. It was signed by over 500 participants, including among others Václav Havel, Madeleine Albright, Paul Wolfowitz, Alyaksandar Milinkevich, Karel Schwarzenberg, Magdalena Vášáryová, Jacques Rupnik, Andrée Glucksmann, Tomáš Halík, Ján Kubiš, Sir Robin Christopher, Sir Frank Lampl, Adam Michnik, Huseyin Bagci, Christiane Amanpour, and Philip Dimitrov.

The Burma Center also developed badges with the Buddhist flag that people could display at the conference to show their solidarity.

Public Presentations

Several presentations were made at schools or universities, including in 2007 at the Diplomatic Forum of the School of International and Public Relations in Prague, at the Faculty of Political Sciences and International Affairs, and the University of Matej Bel, in Banská Bystrica, Slovakia, in cooperation with the university's Center of Nations Slovakia. The Burma Center Prague also participated in a project at an elementary school of arts in Prague.

Other events were held for the general public in Prague and in Brno. Topics discussed included the current situation, possible solutions, and questions and answers about Burma, particularly about the impacts of the protests in 2007.

Events during and after the “Saffron Revolution”

The continuing protests by Burmese dissidents against the regime's policy, which was triggered in summer 2007 by a hike in fuel prices, soon mobilized large parts of the population. It received worldwide attention when Buddhist monks rejected donations from the regime and took to the streets to pray and protest.

Many of the first demonstrators who were arrested started a hunger strike to protest against the conditions in detention. As part of a global sign of solidarity, on September 4, 2007, the Burmese community of Prague, in cooperation with members of the Burma Center Prague, participated in a 24-hour hunger strike. Many Czechs declared their support by joining in.

To encourage broader participation in the course of the evolving events, several public gatherings and protests were organized in Prague and even attracted participants from other Czech towns.

On September 27, the Burma Center Prague and Amnesty International organized an 'ad hoc' vigil and show of support for the protesters in Burma. Participants carried banners and candles on a short walk through the center of Prague, ending with the lighting of candles by the memorial to the Czech Velvet Revolution of November 1989. In a repetition later in September, the Burma Center, Amnesty International, and People in Need laid flowers at the memorial of the Velvet Revolution in Prague, as part of a global event to show support for protesters in Burma. Members of the Burmese Community prayed in front of an Buddhist altar that was built at the memorial.

The same three organizations organized a demonstration outside the Chinese embassy in Prague at the beginning of October to protest the Chinese government's support of the regime in Burma. Participants were encouraged to wear a red shirt to show their support for the "Saffron Revolution" in Burma. During the event, numerous individuals, among them members of the parliament, signed a petition that was later posted to the embassy.

During the protests in Burma and after the violent crackdown, the Burma Center Prague responded to numerous requests about how individuals could campaign and show their solidarity by preparing letters in Czech and English that people could send to the Embassy of the Union of Myanmar in Berlin. It also provided links to several international petitions. Finally, the Burma Center developed Web banners expressing support for the Saffron Revolution for interested individuals/organizations to put on their respective sites.

Conferences

Perhaps the biggest event for the Burma Center Prague in 2007 was the joint hosting of the FBE (Forum of Burmese in Europe) and EBN (European Burma Network) conferences in November together with the organization People in Need. The conference was the first opportunity for the FBE and EBN to meet both together and separately, discuss the current situation in Burma, and come up with action plans for the next six months.

The BCP was responsible for hosting and taking care of accommodation, catering, visas etc for the members of the FBE. The Czech Ministry of Foreign Affairs supported the project through its program TRANS (Transformation Co-operation).

The conference was closed with a peaceful march with candlelight in solidarity with the people of Burma. This event was organized by the Burma Center Prague, both local residents and participants of the joint conferences participated.

The Burma Center also sent delegates in 2006 to conferences in Brussels (Burma Day and EBN), Copenhagen (FBE), and Vienna (EBN), and in 2007 in Berlin ("What to do about Burma/Myanmar?"). In Copenhagen (2007), the Burma Center gave a presentation on "Burma, the far neighbour: How European civil society can help" at the seminar "Czech phenomenon of Charta 77 and Promotion of the Human Rights, Civil Society and Democracy in Burma and Belarus", in cooperation with the Czech Embassy in Denmark.

Online Dictionary

In summer 2006, the Burma Center Prague published a searchable online dictionary from Burmese to English and vice versa, which uses Burmese fonts and offers a virtual keyboard to write Burmese letters by mouse clicks on the screen. This dictionary responded to the need of the worldwide Burmese exile community who have rarely managed to find a printed dictionary or a computer with a Burmese keyboard. The dictionary is available at www.burmese-dictionary.org.

To date it contains over 6,000 entries and has received a total of 75,000 search queries. In several hundred replies, its users suggested new words and sent their comments. The dictionary marks a successful step to combine Burmese and European competencies to the benefit of the Burmese exile community.

Further Services

The Burma Center Prague sees one of its duties as collecting information, reports, books and films and making them available to the public. Furthermore, expertise is offered on all questions concerning Burma.

Media Coverage

The Burma Center Prague served as one of the primary contact points for media inquiries, in particular after the uprising in August and September 2007, being able to give first-hand information from authentic Burmese sources while at the same time commanding the Czech language. Topics included the life of foreigners and immigrants' destinies in general, as well as life under military rule in Burma and assessments of the political development during the 2007 crisis. For numerous Czech and Slovak journalists, the Burma Center Prague served as the first source to create a comprehensive picture of the situation in Burma.

The press coverage included Czech public TV and radio, Hospodarske noviny, Lidove noviny, aktualne.cz, The Prague Post, and many other Czech and Slovak media. The Center's outreach was even extended to Burma, through cooperation with Burmese-run media like the Democratic Voice of Burma (DVB), Radio Free Asia (RFA) The Irrawaddy, and the Burmese office of the BBC.

Own contributions were published on the news service of Econnect, on Slovak public radio, and in the Festivalove noviny (Festival Newspaper) of the One World Festival in Slovakia.

FINANCIAL REPORT

The Burma Center Prague began operations with the financial support of its founders, board members, and other individuals. In 2006, the organization's total budget amounted to 27 941 CZK. In 2007, the Burma Center Prague received a grant from the Czech Ministry of Foreign Affairs within the TRANS program to implement the joint conference of the EBN and FBE together with an exhibition of political cartoons. The total budget in 2007 amounted to 227 736 CZK, of which the grant made up 199 800 CZK.

Due to financial constraints the Burma Center could employ staff only for a small share of the organization's activities, the Center's work has largely been carried out by volunteers.

The Burma Center Prague would like to express its gratitude to the donors of office equipment and services in 2007, among them the United Nations Information Centre Prague and business corporations based in Prague.
